

Biography of Grace Quinn

Grace Quinn is currently the Manager of Quality Assurance, Training & Staff Development at Northwest EMS. She attended the University of Waterloo where she obtained a BA in psychology before pursuing a career in EMS. She trained at the University of Iowa Hospitals in Iowa City IA, where she became a NREMT – Paramedic, and returned to Ontario in 2001 - and was employed as an Advanced Care Paramedic with Niagara EMS from 2002- 2009.

GRACE'S PRESENTATION IS ON APRIL 5th AT THE CENTRE IN DRYDEN

Kenora District Services Board's (KDSB) Role within an Emergency

The Kenora District Services Board delivers a diverse group of social and emergency services and interacts with the community on different levels and stages of an emergency response. This session will review the role that the KDSB plays at various stages in an emergency response: Northwest EMS, Social Housing, and Ontario Works and Child Care, their roles, as service providers and participants of an emergency response will be examined: Operational plans, financial considerations and agency expectations will be discussed.