Emergency Management & Planning ~ Street Smarts Version

An interactive presentation with a logical and common sense approach to emergency planning and business continuity. This session will emphasize building resilience through prioritizing and rationalizing.

CBRNE (Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear or Explosives) for the 2010 G8 Summit

An overview of the planning and deployment of CBRNE protection for the G8 Summit in Huntsville, ON in 2010. Providing a description of the participation of the Fire Service in one of the largest security events in Canadian history. The presentation will identify many of the challenges and successes prior to, during and after the event. Lessons learned will be applicable to communities considering hosting large public events including political, human aid or tourism and public style gatherings. It will also identify the role that the Incident Management System had in not only the deployment but the critical planning role.
